Postdoctoral Fellow in Globalization, Comparative Education and Policy Research

Job description

There is a vacant position as a Postdoctoral Fellow at the Department of Education. The appointment is a fulltime position for a period of three years, of which 10% is devoted to required duties, usually in the form of teaching activities.

The position is funded by the Norwegian Research Council (NRC), the FINNUT program, as part of the research project “Policy Knowledge and Lesson Drawing in Nordic School Reform in an Era of International Comparison” (POLNET). The project employs network and content analysis to compare the reception and translation of international, regional, and national policy knowledge across three distinct school reform periods in Norway (school reforms of 1994/97, 2006, 2020) as well as in four Nordic countries (Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Sweden). For more information, see the project webpage.

The applicant will work closely with the leadership team, other members of the project staff, members of the research group Curriculum, Leadership and Educational Governance (CLEG), and the project's international collaborators from Teacher College Columbia University and four Nordic universities. It is expected that the candidate has a residence in Norway during the appointment period.

More about the position

The main purpose of the Postdoctoral Fellowship is to qualify researchers for work in higher academic positions within their disciplines. The successful applicant will have the opportunity to define and pursue her or his own research interests within the scope of the second subproject in the main project. This subproject is dedicated to comparisons of reference-types and -patterns between various stages in the policy processes (e.g. between agenda setting versus policy formulation) within and across countries.

The Postdoctoral Fellow is expected to conduct a cross-national analysis, work within an interdisciplinary and international research group and contribute to both first- and co-authorships.

Please contact the principal investigator Dr. Kirsten Sivesind for further information about the sub-project.
